Kilkenny, Co. Kilkenny

Community Involvement & Planning / Rannpháirtíocht an Phobail & Pleanáil:

Having won the Irish Top Tourism Town award last year and having been named as Condé Nast's 9th friendliest city in the world, there is not much further for Kilkenny to go! – but then, everything creative is developing and changing all the time. It is a genuine pleasure to read your submission, so succinct and informative and so stylishly produced, and an even greater pleasure to visit the city. It was salutary to note that what was seen by last year's second adjudicator as one serious discrepancy (Kilcrene Road) had been quickly taken in hand and this year is appropriately included as a 'star' site. Of inland cities Kilkenny vies only with Armagh as an ancient foundation with enduring ecclesiastical and military architecture, but Kilkenny has a far greater public appreciation of these elements, as well as its high profile as a prime modern commercial and artistic centre. You will have noted that this competition is now more community-orientated than heretofore; the astonishing number of over 80 active Residents' Associations, the Vodaphone employees' painting of the Fr McGrath Centre, the Ossory Youth garden, the Kilkenny Ambassador programme and other group initiatives – fully described in your submission that otherwise the adjudicators would be unaware of – all bear witness to widespread community involvements. Congratulations on your awards under the EU Urbact Links scheme.

Built Environment and Streetscape / An Timpeallacht Thógtha agus Sráid-dreacha:

Nowhere on this island does the ancient streetscape still impact so definitely on the contemporary city; your 'Mediaeval Mile' project emphasises this and the completion of the first section must be greeted with acclaim. The same must be said of the completion of the first phase of the reordering of St Mary's Church and its 'forgotten' monuments, also a project of exceptional significance; as much as could be seen of the rare memorial and tomb sculpture was in fact eye-opening. The completed Talbot's Tower renovation was not yet open to the public by the date of the visit but was seen to be impressive and the work a tribute to those whose desire is to see Kilkenny's past enshrined in its present. Among small but noteworthy restorations noted in a walk through the city centre are Tudor window frames and stacks on the Hole-in the-Wall bar. The heavy burden of maintenance on the major landmark buildings – the two Cathedrals, the several ancient churches, the Rothe House, Switzer's Asylum, the Court House, the Castle and the former Castle Stables – should not go unacknowledged here; what generations have managed with some difficulty to preserve are now under the expert control of the appropriate bodies. Perhaps the symbol of this is the visually arresting coat-of-arms now so brilliantly restored on the Castle. Among the newer buildings that add lustre to the city are the extension to St Luke's Hospital and Loreto Secondary School.

Landscaping and Open Spaces / Tírdhreachú agus Spásanna Oscailte:

The Million Tree Project noted in your submission draws attention to Kilkenny's high record of tree-planting throughout the city as well as in its environs – such as alongside the ring road and in quite far-flung housing neighbourhoods. This adjudicator particularly enjoyed seeing St James' Green as a newly-planted urban space because of the nature of the planting and the fact that the green is an essential component of an established city community. Very well-tended open spaces were observed in the precincts of institutions such as Kilkenny College with its extensive sports fields, St Kieran's College with its fine lawns and ancient timber, St Patrick's School with its beautiful avenue of horse chestnuts and limes and St Canice's Hospital, the grounds of which resemble a lush Victorian arboretum. Naturally the Castle park, with its landscaping in the original sense of that term, takes pride of place – the vistas, the woodlands, the riverside walk – where the public come to recreate themselves, children play and visitors enjoy the city-centre peace of the rose garden. Its upkeep is exemplary. Nearby, the delightful gardens linking the Design Centre with Butler House caught the attention most favourably. The planting of herbs in the Tudor confines of the Rothe House is a charming initiative. The enormous task of creating and maintaining such a judicious selection of annuals and perennials in a variety of urban and suburban contexts is acknowledged with enthusiasm. Planting alongside the river in the city centre makes walking there a real pleasure. Planting at Hebron Road roundabout is most impressive and, as you point out, insect friendly. It is good to learn that you plant bulbs extensively for spring flowering and that you donate bulbs to residents' associations to enhance their neighbourhoods.

Wildlife, Habitats and Natural Amenities / Fiadhúlra, Gnáthóga agus Taitneamhachtaí Nádúrtha:

Newpark Fen was a truly pioneering project when it was begun and is now a well established wild life sanctuary; it will be interesting to read the result of your audit of its flora and fauna. The Bregagh River is encountered somewhat unexpectedly in walking through the city; the conclusions of your biodiversity study along its course will be also be looked forward to. St Maul's graveyard was not open on the date of the visit. It is good to read that there are now more patches than heretofore left to wild-life in the Castle grounds. Your numerous bee-encouraging and -monitoring projects are most worthy. (There is certainly a story to be made of the bees occupying the owl house!) It was interesting to see that land at Kilcrene criticised last year for being over-grazed was a mass of wild flowers this June. Also mentioned last year in the same context was the vacant site near the Hotel Kilkenny which you have now successfully designated as a 'pop-up' park with a number of well-reasoned aims and commendable objectives. Plenty of wild flowers and grasses as well as native plants such as elders and hawthorns were seen on the by-pass. It is good that you are in contact with Bird Watch Ireland. Swans were not seen on the date of the visit but numerous ducks and ducklings were. The Nore Linear Walk is a tremendously valuable and sensitively tended amenity both for wild life and the people who live nearby.

Sustainable Waste and Resource Management / Bainistiú Acmhainní agus Dramhaíola Inbhuanaíthe:

There are fifteen green-flag schools listed in your documentation, the Kilkenny School Project alone having achieved a remarkable six flags. It is particularly encouraging to read that cycling is being actively promoted as a healthier and energy-resource saving activity especially in the context of school attendance. The safe cycle track along the Kells road was seen as part of this initiative. The impressive allotments off the Carlow Road may encourage householders who have back gardens to think about growing their own vegetables. The steps taken by the Ormonde Hotel as part of the Green Hospitality programme are to be welcomed and it is encouraging to learn that their water and electricity costs have been significantly reduced; perhaps other hotels and businesses will follow this example. Restaurants buying foodstuffs locally reduce transport costs and all that that implies and is of benefit to native producers. The horrifying estimate of €700 per year per household on wasted food nationwide is being addressed here through the school and Credit Unions. Initiatives such as these are 'invisible' to the adjudicators and you are thanked for providing information. The re-use of clothes via the charity shops reduces the amount of fabrics consigned to landfill and the splendid 'Furniture Recovery' scheme is of benefit to those in the mental health sector who participate and to those who make use of their products. Public lighting initiatives were noted. The reprinting and distribution of the EPA 'Greener Cleaning' handbook recommends a number of ways of safely reducing cleaning costs, some of them quite 'old-fashioned' and all the better for that! The Local Authority Housing Upgrade scheme concerning insulating, heating and replacement of doors and windows in 185 homes demonstrates the admirable commitment of the City & County Council.

Tidiness and Litter Control /
Slachtmhaireacht agus Rialú Bruscair:

When walking in the city centre it becomes abundantly clear how Irish towns were blighted by poles and overhead wires in the early 20th century and what a difference their removal has made in Kilkenny in, e.g., John Street, High Street and Rose Inn Street. There are still three prominent unsightly gables on Dean Street at Coach Road. The ruinous roof at the unused section of the Railway Station needs to be addressed by Iarnród Éireann and the handsome blind arcade repaired. Litter control is good – very good considering the large population and the numbers of visitors. Kerbside weed was not seen to be a problem and no graffiti were noticed. You are seen to be dealing with doggy-doo. It is encouraging to read that you have had effective prosecutions for littering and dumping, though indeed it would be preferable if this were not necessary: have you done a survey of where littering is worst and of its probable sources? Most likely your faithful Tús worker would know. Only one area where litter was all too evident was St Mary's Crescent off the Hebron Road, and it looks as if it had not been cleared for some time. A litter bin would be welcomed at the swimming spot by the upstream revêtment project. Those who take part in your regular clean-ups on land and on water are to be highly commended.

The Junior Litter Programme, as described, is truly admirable; again, it would be preferable if the energies of these young people were not needed for this activity and could be diverted to more creative pursuits. Congratulations too to residents of estates who "look after their own patch".

Residential Streets & Housing
Areas / Sráideanna Cónaithe & Ceantair Tithíochta:

The Living Above the Shops scheme is so important it is hoped you will make headway; the fact is, most families nowadays prefer to live in a suburb rather than on a noisy street. The older residential streets of small terrace houses and cottages in the neighbourhood of St Mary's Cathedral and towards Tullaroan and Kilmanagh, and also in the vicinity of John's Green on the east bank, are full of character and the homes are kept up with real pride; one's admiration for the residents is profound. Also, as remarked by last year's second adjudicator, the extensive mid-20th century Local Authority developments remain very well presented; much of their attractiveness is due to fairly recent tree and shrub planting, but the painting of homes and boundaries is generally impressive. The Tidy Estates competition must surely have an influence. Because the city is so large only a spot-check was possible in the time available to visit suburban areas. Nowhere were markedly untidy or neglected developments seen. Talbot's Grove, Gate and Court are notable for their well nurtured grass spaces and avenues of now maturing limes. The very extensive area comprising The Sycamores (but sycamores seemed to be the least abundant trees!), Ailesbury and Loreto Avenue are fortunate in their proximity to the riverside park. (Do avoid placing floral containers on grass: prefer gravel or hard surface.) The vast Robert's Hill development is perhaps too young to be fairly judged but planting is taking the bare edge off it and more would show dividends in a very short time. The apartment blocks nearby look a bit surprised by their peripheral location; stone facings give a quality look. In an imaginatively designed development to the west of the Callan road the residents seem to have failed to maintain the ample planting. The Station House apartment blocks are pleasantly secluded and well kept. Glendine was totally spic and span on the date of the visit; one longed to see more creepers and climbers on the frontages and boundaries. A sequence of very fine individual homes with attractive gardens was seen to the north of Green's Bridge. Maidenhill also has some well-presented individual homes; it may not be fair to compare it with the modest Corcoran's Terrace nearby but the fact is the latter is equally well looked after, with pride indeed, by its residents. It will be very useful to get the result of your pilot programme of working with a specified Residents' Association.

Approach Roads, Streets & Lanes /
 Bóithre Isteach, Sráideanna & Lánaí:

It seems hardly believable that as recently as 40 years ago there was serious objection to the pedestrianisation of streets and the opening up of the then neglected lanes. The lanes leading off the spine of High Street have a real feeling of urban liveliness. Newly installed hard landscaping, seating and unusual signposting were favourably noted at St Canice's steps. Today the streets that are pedestrianised are among the most vibrant in the city and the lanes and 'slips' among the busiest and most picturesque localities. The major new achievement has been the opening of the Lady Desart Bridge; in such a design-conscious city something a little more visually striking might have been expected but the bridge is a real success in connecting the residential and business neighbourhoods of the east and west banks of the Nore. The extensive commercial and industrial estates are notable for the way in which they are laid out and maintained, the connecting roadways and individual units almost invariably presented in prime condition; those seen were at Cillin Hill, Purcell's Inch, Loughboy and the Kilkenny Retail Park. Traffic management is good and calming measures ubiquitous. Electric car points were noted. A yellow box is badly needed at the entrance to the River Court Hotel. The approaches to Kilkenny have been mentioned in passing under some of the above headings. The main thoroughfares leading into the city give a good initial impression due to good surfacing, tree planting, trim verges and imaginatively planted roundabouts.

Second Round Adjudication:

We were delighted to have a reason to visit your beautiful medieval city. First and foremost, congratulations to KKB for your involvement in the winning of the prestigious Fáilte Ireland 'Best tourism (large) town' award – it is easy to see why Kilkenny is so popular with visitors and we enjoyed hearing the many different languages being spoken as we walked around. Secondly, we would like to commend you for your excellent submission which clearly shows that you are working closely with all relevant stakeholders in order to make Kilkenny a better place to live, work and visit. Your organised structure and professional approach is assisting in this. In a large centre such as Kilkenny, a well-laid out entry form and clear map are vital for effective adjudication so thank you for assisting us in exploring your expansive area. This adjudicator concurs with comments made by the first adjudicator and offers some further general comments as follows:

Kilkenny has a rich built heritage that you are preserving and highlighting as appropriate. We admired St. Kieran's College, Ormonde College, Rothe House and the Kilkenny Design Centre among others. The lovely Nore River is increasingly being brought to the forefront each time we visit Kilkenny and it is great to hear of the many riverbased activities taking place. We welcome the various bio-diversity initiatives along here and in the nearby Castle Park. We would be interested in knowing who is on your biodiversity sub-committee? It is always good to show if you have local expertise or if you are linking in with other groups. It is wonderful that the magnificent castle grounds are such an integral part of community life in Kilkenny and so accessible to all. The excellent playground was being enjoyed by many. Grand Parade has had a facelift since our last visit and we liked the 'plaza' atmosphere outside the castle grounds. This tree-lined street is one of the highlights of the city. Modern developments such as court house and new bridge blend in well. You have some exciting projects in the pipeline and we look forward to hearing of future progress. All was in neat order at the MacDonagh Junction Shopping Complex – we enjoyed reading the history of the old railway station and work house, once sited here. We felt there was a lack of signage to the train station from this area but maybe we missed them? Approach roads are well maintained and the landscaping at the many roundabouts adds visual impact. Your participation in schemes such as your sustainable roundabout planting pilot scheme and 'Million Trees' project is commended. Thank you for submitting photos of your spring bulbs in bloom. You might consider using appropriate landscaping to further define city entrances, e.g. Durrow road. Generally there was an air of neatness and tidiness about Kilkenny. We did visit on a busy holiday weekend so make some allowances; however there was minor littering in several areas, e.g. outside Hotel Kilkenny, Durrow Road approach, along the river Nore walkway and 'ESB' amenity area/sports grounds. Cigarette butts are a challenge. We are delighted to hear of your ongoing support and encouragement of residents groups. Any residential areas observed were neatly maintained. Credit must go to those who have gone the extra effort with landscaping for improved visual appearance. Good landscaping was observed at commercial premises such as the Retail Park and Lidl. The view of the Nore River from the bridges is further enhanced by impressive flower beds in key areas along the riverside and banks. Floral displays at key areas in the city centre are impressive yet don't detract from your special built environment. We are delighted to observe that Kilkenny embraces its quirky laneways as these are an important part of the city's character. All are well used and clean. We liked the 'Share the Space' signs and did indeed feel that Kilkenny was an enjoyable city to explore on foot. Plenty of car parks were well sign-posted. We liked the fact that KKB is using the window display of the vacant building opposite MacDonagh Junction, as a means of promoting its messages. We visited the derelict site opposite hotel Kilkenny but didn't see the improvements noted in your application. The area just looks very overgrown so somewhat untidy in its present state. There was minor littering here and the sign requires attention. We are delighted to hear that salvage materials have been reused in new projects and thank you for telling us. This is at the heart of the 'Sustainable Waste & Resource Management' category. There were plenty of cycle lanes and bike parking - it would be nice to see more people using these on the streets of Kilkenny. Maybe a Kilkenny Bike Scheme will be next?! Street name signage was excellent throughout the city centre, although this adjudicator feels it's a pity there are two styles/colour schemes. We prefer the more traditional black signs for your medieval city. Use of the Irish language was very good throughout.

Well done to KKB on an excellent submission and we wish you well with future projects. Keep up the good work!
